

Total Logistics Appoints Supply Chain Security Expert

Total Logistics, the leading European supply chain consultancy, has appointed Mark Steegh as senior consultant, based in the firm's Netherlands office.

He joins from DSV Solutions, part of DSV Global Transport and Logistics Group, where he specialised in advising clients on security, warehousing, transport and customs issues. Mark has gained experience from a wide range of industry sectors – including fashion, FMCG and electronics - and recently completed a project overseeing the integration of three warehousing locations into a single new build facility.

Over the past eighteen months Steegh has seen the issue of supply chain security become a higher priority for supply chain professionals, who are increasingly turning to standards such as those accredited by TAPA (Transported Asset Protection Association) to reduce theft and wastage from warehousing.

Andy Keith, partner and founder of Total Logistics, said: "Mark brings a wealth of experience to this new role which will benefit our European clients. As well as enhancing our expertise in the area of warehousing consolidation, which is a big trend we're seeing across the EU at present, his knowledge of security issues will be invaluable as our business grows across Europe."
